INTRODUCTION

The Western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway at the present time extend from Port Arthur and Fort William, on the shores of Lake Superior in the East, to Port Alberni, on Vancouver Island, in the West, covering part of Western Ontario and the whole of the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. On its journey across the continent the railway opens up a territory rich in raw material, destined for the development of every kind of commercial enterprise. The enormous increase year by year in land settlement demands a contributory increase in industrial development. The market for the manufactured article is within the territory of its manufacture, and merely awaits the further investigation on the part of the capitalist.

Each year new towns come into existence ; each year the demand for supplies grows greater ; each year the importation of merchandise that could be manufactured in the country is steadily increasing.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, with its 1,200 Cities, Towns, and Villages in the West, opens up a tremendous field for commercial development. The retailer is demanded at every point, the wholesaler at strategic corners, where he is able to cover a large expanse of settled country; the manufacturer in the cities where the wholesale man takes the larger part of his output. For the manufacturer, the water-powers of the Western rivers and the natural gas field, constitute a means by which the raw material may be turned into the finished product with economic success and in competition with the products of any country in the world.

The best illustration of the demand for factories in the West may perhaps be found in the list of imports shown in the annual summary, issued by the Dominion Government, and for which Canada is at the present moment sending millions of dollars out of the country.

The total imports for the year ending March, 1912, amounted to $547,382,582, of which $521,348,701 represent merchandise, and $26,033,881 coin and bullion.

Among the articles imported, in the composition of which the raw material lies right at our door, are the following :

|---|-------------|
| Brick, tiles, clay and manufactures of | $2,719,852 |
| Carriages, carts, wagons, etc. | 11,753,840 |
| Cordage, rope and twine | 2,603,358 |
| Earthenware, china and graniteware.. | 2,582,966 |
| Flax, hemp, jute and manufactures of . | 6,471,837 |
| Glass..... | 4,100,386 |
| Gloves and mitts | 1,893,385 |
| Leather and manufactures of | 6,386,934 |
| Brass and manufactures of | 3,538,865 |
| Copper and manufactures of | 5,913,165 |
| Iron and steel and manufactures of | 96,140,200 |
| Paper and manufactures of | 9,347,698 |
| Soap..... | 1,120,760 |
| Sugar, molasses, etc. | 18,152,131 |
| Wood and manufactures of | 20,619,904 |
| Bread stuffs | 13,483,034 |

$15,314,348 were spent on fruits, a large proportion of which would be citrus fruits ; yet the amount of fresh fruits imported into Western Canada is too great when cognizance is taken of the large tracts of fruit-growing lands in British Columbia, which produce the finest apples, pears, plums, peaches and all the smaller fruits in abundance, where cultivated.

$2,726,472 were spent on imported vegetables in a country which can produce the finest garden truck, and is suited in every way to the cultivation of all vegetables.

$26,677,312 were spent on wool and its manufactures, yet the sheep industry is one that lends itself particularly well to development in the West, and the earlier settled province of Manitoba, demands the sheep industry to bring back to parts of it, that clean soil so essential to good farming. The report of the Commissioners appointed to investigate the sheep industry of Canada, Great Britain and the United States, and published November 1st, 1911, discloses the fact that in Canada there were at the time of investigation but 2,106,000 head. In Great Britain 31,852,772 ; New Zealand, 23,792,947 ; Australia, 92,241,226 sheep of shearing age ; Argentine, 67,211,754 ; and United States of America, 51,216,000 including lambs. The province of Manitoba, alone, could easily take care of all the sheep in the whole of Canada, and yet with its 41,169,098 acres, had but a sheep population of 30,266 head.

The Dominion Government has for the last few years and still is engaged on a survey of the clay and shale deposits in the West and from a summary report already issued, it would appear evident that every kind of clay product can be manufactured. The demand for building material outstrips the supply by many thousands of dollars annually, and thus there is a great field open for the manufacture of all clay products, and cement and its products, the huge deposits of lime rock in Alberta and British Columbia being eminently suitable to this industry.

Although over 11,000,000 bushels of flax were produced in the year of 1911, the whole of the straw was destroyed. Putting the straw at 1,500,000 tons, it would have yielded under manipulation 300,000 tons of commercially spinnable flax fibre, which at Canadian prices would have yielded $60,000,000 in Canadian exports. In addition to the use of the fibre for linen and coarser stuffs, it may also be utilized in the manufacture of paper and card fabric.

The campaign which is now proceeding with a view to encourage a greater proportion of mixed farming, farmers will have a tendency to gradually increase the number of head of live stock. With a population of nearly 2,000,000, Western Canada is at the present time (notwithstanding the marvellous productiveness of its land) importing a large proportion of its necessary food products from the United States and the East.

The Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, during the year 1911, produced 11,141,207 pounds of butter, valued at $2,753,671; 660,725 pounds of cheese valued at $84,691; 14,044,000 bushels of potatoes valued at $6,303,000; 247,000 bushels of turnips and other vegetables valued at $2,931,000; 2,429,000 tons of hay and clover valued at $5,892,000. The sugar beet as grown in Alberta is manifestly successful and produced 15,000 tons of sugar valued at $75,000 last year, but there is a much larger scope for this and other industries at the present time, with an exceedingly profitable future. Not nearly sufficient is being produced to take care of the home market in addition to which there is a large outside market to provide for, with products which should, and can, be grown to perfection in the West.

Following is a short synopsis of the provinces, together with a statement of their natural products.

WESTERN ONTARIO

From the Western shores of Lake Superior to the Eastern boundary of Manitoba is a great stretch of timbered lands, underlying which are iron and gold, with clay, gravel and sand deposits. The product of the iron ranges which are tributary to the lake ports, are being developed, and the iron ore used at the blast furnaces at Port Arthur. The gold mining claims south of Dryden and at Kenora are being exploited. The water powers of this part of the province are estimated to produce 237,347 h.-p., but so far have only been developed at Kakabeka Falls and Kenora. The cities of Port Arthur and Port William during the season of navigation, handle the huge grain crop of the West, which is shipped out over the lakes and the freighters bring back a large tonnage of coal and merchandise. The paper pulp industry is being developed at Dryden, and Keewatin and Kenora are large flour milling centres.

MANITOBA

This province extends from the International Boundary to the shores of the Hudson Bay, and covers a territory rich in agricultural products. It has an area of 229,926 square miles, and is traversed by the Red, Winnipeg, Assiniboine, Nelson and Churchill rivers. The newly added territory to the north has not yet been sufficiently explored to state with any certainty its wealth, but there are large stretches of timber, big clay deposits as well as minerals. The water powers are estimated to produce 519,000 h.-p., of which 53,000 has already been developed, principally for the city of Winnipeg. The lakes of Manitoba, which are so famous for their white fish are Winnipeg, Winnipegosis and Manitoba.

The present principal products of the province are wheat, oats, barley, flax, roots, vegetables, live stock, poultry, dairying, cultured and domestic grasses, gypsum, clay, shale, limestone, gravel, sand, white fish, timber, etc. The construction of locks on the Red River, near Winnipeg, has opened up navigation through to Lake Winnipeg, and a large traffic is being developed. The population of the province at the Dominion census in 1911 was 455,869.

SASKATCHEWAN

Has an area of 250,660 square miles, and is traversed by the North and South Saskatchewan Rivers, with the Churchill River in the North, and the Qu'Appelle and Souris Rivers in the centre and south. The larger lakes are the Athabasca, Reindeer, Wollaston, Quill and Last Mountain.

The water powers are estimated to produce 470,200 h.-p., but at the present time are practically undeveloped.

The population at the Dominion census of 1911 was 487,892.

The province has established a record for wheat growing, and amongst its present products are wheat, oats, barley, flax, cultivated and domestic grasses, roots, vegetables, live stock, poultry, dairying, lignite coal, timber, clay, shale, gravel, sand, etc.

ALBERTA

In area 253,570 square miles. Is the home of the Natural Gas field, and has coal beds underlying the larger part of the province. The Canadian Pacific Railway is bringing under irrigation a large tract of 3,000,000 acres, at a cost of some $18,000,000. The lands so irrigated have proved successful in producing every kind of grain, alfalfa and other fodders, sugar beets, vegetables, etc.

The principal rivers are the Peace, Athabasca, Bow and Red Deer. The lakes, Athabasca, Lesser Slave, Lac La Biche and numerous smaller ones.

Water powers are estimated to produce 1,167,300 h.-p., of which only about 7,300 h.-p. has been developed. The present products of the province are wheat, oats, barley, flax, alfalfa, roots, vegetables, live stock, poultry, dairying, sugar, coal, natural gas, clay, gravel, sand, limestone, timber, etc.

The population at the Dominion census of 1911 was 374,434.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Contains about 395,610 square miles. It is traversed from north to south by four principal mountain ranges—the Rocky and Selkirk ranges in the east, and the Coast and Island ranges in the west.

There is a Coast line of some 1,000 miles, with many fine harbors, in and out of which ocean liners carry merchandise and passengers to all parts of the world.

The principal rivers are the Columbia, Fraser, North and South Thompson, Skeena, Kootenay, Stikina, and the Peace.

The lakes are Atlin, Kootenay, Okanagan, Upper and Lower Arrow, Quesnel, Shuswap, Adam and many others.

The water powers are estimated to produce 2,045,945 h.p., of which some 137,000 h.p. has been developed.

The population of the province at the Dominion census of 1911 was 380,787.

The principal products are coal, gold, silver, copper, lead, zinc, timber, furs, fish, oil, hops, fruit, vegetables, wheat, oats, barley, hay and cultivated grasses, marble, granite, limestone, gypsum, clay, shale, gravel, sand, etc.

The mineral production of the province for the year 1911 was $23,211,816, somewhat less than the year 1910, the principal difference being in the output of coal caused by miners' strike which prevailed during the greater part of last year. The values were as follows :

|-------------------------|-------------|
| Gold..... | $5,120,465 |
| Silver..... | 972,946 |
| Lead..... | 1,113,405 |
| Copper..... | 4,890,100 |
| Zinc..... | 127,400 |
| Coal..... | 8,522,500 |
| Coke..... | 465,000 |
| Building materials..... | 2,000,000 |

Vancouver Island, with its ports of Victoria, Nanaimo and Alberni, is building up an immense shipping trade to all parts of the world. The island is tremendously rich in timber and minerals, while every kind of agricultural pursuit is carried on and the nearby seas are developing large fisheries.
